

Debt Limit Likely to Be Raised Again

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The Treasury and the Congress are in the midst of their usual spring dance over the official limit on the federal debt.

With fair regularity Congress raises this ceiling, usually on a temporary basis, because the Treasury has to borrow more money or it can't pay its bills. And each time there is a debate over why there should be an official limit since the Treasury is likely to be bumping its head on it.

At the moment the temporary limit is $305 billion. The federal debt is nearing $304 billion. The Treasury expects to borrow sizeable sums in the next few months to handle a federal deficit of anywhere up to $12 billion.

Even the present $305 billion legal ceiling will last only a few weeks longer unless Congress extends it or raises it. Otherwise the limit will revert to a figure well below the current debt and the Treasury, theoretically at least, would have to stop paying its bills, and meeting its payroll—including what congressmen get.

The Treasury will be collecting another installment of income taxes next month, but not enough to hold the federal debt within the present limits before the year is over.

The theory on which Congress acts in setting a limit on the federal debt is that this should put a psychological brake on spending.

But Congress soon will be passing the big appropriation bills for the fiscal year starting July 1. And to pay out the money these will call for, the Treasury must borrow still more than its expected tax collections will net, especially if Congress also cuts the tax rates.

Nice Thing About Past Is It Can't Get Any Worse -- While Future Is Doubtful

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (A.)—Some people like to look ahead. But we all like to look back.

One of the nice things about the past is that we know it can't get any worse—a thing we can't say for sure about the future. As a matter of fact, seen through the haze of reminiscence, the past gets rosier all the time to most of us. We recall it with a growing fondness.

You can qualify for membership in the old-timers' league if you can remember; her apple pies. People were born—and died—in their own homes. You only went to the hospital when you had to have your appendix taken out.

A juvenile delinquent was a boy under 15 who sneaked into the local barbershop to read "The Police Gazette."

Everything was cooked in lard, a substance with which young sports also slicked down their hair before going out on a date.

War Threat in Caribbean Dissolving

By ISAAC FLORS

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The threat of war between two Caribbean neighbors eased still further today with the Dominican Republic's acceptance of the Haitian offer to let 15 political refugees in the Dominican Embassy in Port au Prince leave the country and the other seven go to the Colombian Embassy.

Fears remained of a blowup inside seething Haiti as President Francois Duvalier strove to crush his foes. Diplomats in Port au Prince, the Haitian capital, believe Duvalier may launch a new wave of repression now that he is no longer under surveillance of the Organization of American States, which sent a fact-finding mission to Port au Prince to investigate Dominican charges.

The five-nation OAS mission returned to Santo Domingo Thursday night after two days of talks with Haitian officials. After talking with Dominican President Juan Bosch, the mission is expected to return to Washington in a day or two.

It was sent to the Island of Hispaniola—which Haiti and the Dominican Republic share—after Haitian troops invaded the Dominican Republic in an attempt to get hold of opponents of Duvalier who took refuge there. Bosch threatened to retaliate with force, and for a time war appeared imminent.

Jewel-Eating Dog Gives Up, Dodges Knife

PETERSBURG Va. (AP)—Happy, the jewel-eating dog, gave up his diamonds and escaped the surgeon's knife.

Happy, a wire-haired terrier, swallowed the engagement, wedding and birthstone rings of his owner, Mrs. Gerald Kabobel, two weeks ago.

It took a veterinarian's X-rays to determine that Happy made off with the three rings.

If Happy hadn't returned the rings it would have meant an operation Saturday.

The dog swallowed the rings when his owner and her husband, a Ft. Lee, Va., soldier whose home is in Saginaw, Mich., left him behind when they went to work.

Happy got his first romp outside in two weeks after the rings were returned.

U.S.-Haiti Relations Deteriorate

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Relations with Haiti are deteriorating rapidly.

In the past five days, the U.S. Embassy has fired off five protests to President Francois Duvalier's government, complaining about different incidents. All have been ignored.

The incidents were:

1. A bitterly anti-American address April 21 by Jacques Fourcade, pistol-carrying head of Haiti's Red Cross, at a ceremony launching a government-sponsored "month of gratefulness" to Duvalier. Fourcade called the United States a false democracy and said Haiti would not be a "tool of Washington."

2. The wife of a U.S. Marine sergeant was held in jail for two and a half hours and a noise bomb exploded in the yard of another Marine sergeant.

3. Police arrested a Haitian secretary employed by the U.S. Embassy and are still holding her. A second Haitian secretary was marched off at gunpoint by a Haitian soldier as she was about to report for work. She was detained briefly.

4. A slowdown on exit permits for U.S. citizens living in Haiti. The issuance of visas was speeded up later. About 1,000 Americans reside here, but there has been no sign of an exodus.

5. The first secretary of the U.S. Embassy was stopped at a roadblock at 2 a.m. when driving to work and made to stand in front of the headlights with his hands up before he was released.

Duvalier's regime demanded last week that the United States withdraw the 60-member Marine Corps mission which has been training the Haitian army. Less than half the Marines are preparing to leave in the near future. The rest are being incorporated in the military assistance advisory group which supervises the use made of American military equipment furnished Haiti.

On the American side, officials in Washington make no secret of the Kennedy administration's distaste for Duvalier's dictatorship. The United States cut off aid to Haiti for six months in 1961-62. Thursday the State Department warned U.S. citizens to "avoid unnecessary travel to Haiti" because of the tense and potentially explosive situation in the country.

U.S. Ambassador Raymond Thurston has not talked to Duvalier in more than five months. He has had to take up diplomatic problems with Rene Chalmers, Haitian foreign minister.

Thurston plans to leave for consultation in Washington shortly before May 15, the date the United States considers the legal termination of Duvalier's six-year term in office. However, in 1961, Duvalier proclaimed himself elected for a new six-year term which he inaugurated May 22 of that year. He did this by placing his name unopposed on all the ballots in elections for the legislature.

Robert Newbegin, then U.S. ambassador, did not attend the 1961 inaugural, managing to be in Washington at the time. The same thing happened at last year's celebration of the first anniversary of Duvalier's new term.

Gun Fight Off Florida Keys Is Told

EDITOR'S NOTE—Reporter John Raymond of the Boston Traveler visited with Cuban exiles in Miami as they prepared for last week's bombing raid on a Cuban refinery near Havana. In this last of three articles made available to The Associated Press, Raymond describes a gun-running expedition that left munitions on a Cuban beach.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—A machine gun cut loose and raked the air above our heads. A bullet ripped through the hull of our highpowered speed boat.

I flattened myself on the deck. "What the hell are we doing here?" shouted Jan Dorfman, a documentary film director from Boston now living in New York.

The two of us had come along for the ride on a gun-running mission to anti-Castro guerrillas in Cuba.

This wasn't a rebel raid—just a supply drop.

We were scared. But the other six Americans and two Cuban exiles aboard the sleek-hulled craft, it was an old story.

Two .50-caliber machine guns were mounted on our custom-built 40-foot boat with its twin engines.

One of the Cuban refugees grabbed the gun mounted in the stern and gave a staccato reply to the Cuban patrol boat.

"Castro's men are lousy shots," said our gunner, as our boat knifed through the waters a mile offshore.

Achievement reports covering activities from Jan. 1 to date concluded the meeting. The club has a total of 57 members.

Pentagon Is Accused by McClellan

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., accused the Pentagon today of having "either refused or, so far, failed to provide" documentary evidence requested in a Senate investigation of the controversial TFX warplane contract.

McClellan made public a letter to Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric, renewing a demand for the documents.

McClellan heads the Senate Investigations subcommittee which seeks to determine whether favoritism might explain why the huge contract was awarded last December to the General Dynamics Corp., of Fort Worth, Tex.

J. Edgar Hoover's 40th Year as FBI Head Calls for Review of U.S. Crime

EDITOR'S NOTE—J. Edgar Hoover soon will begin his 40th year as head of the FBI. How has the bureau changed since he took over? How serious is the crime problem? What does he call the crime of the century? He answers these and other questions in this article.

By RAYMOND J. CROWLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, about to enter his 40th year as FBI director, cautioned the nation today that it faces "a tragic breakdown of law and order" unless crime is curbed.

The head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said serious crime has increased by 114 per cent since 1950. One major cause, he said, is public apathy toward law enforcement—too many people adopt a "don't get involved" attitude.

"Law enforcement," he said, "must depend on citizens who will report criminal acts and later testify about them."

Back in 1917, when he was a fledgling lawyer, Hoover entered

School Board in Morrilton Backs Down

MORRILTON, Ark. (AP)—About 700 irate school patrons laid siege to the Morrilton School Board Thursday night and the board rescinded an earlier action and rehired the high school principal and band director.

The 700 occupied the auditorium for four hours trying to get the board to meet in open session with them. Shortly before midnight, Board President Jack Bland read a statement in which he said Principal Don Elliott and Band Director Ben Wright had been rehired.

The contract of Superintendent Paul Liddick, which still has a year to run, was not renewed.

The board had voted at an earlier meeting not to rehire the three.

While the board was meeting in closed session, the 700 patrons formed a nine-member "temporary steering committee" and Robert Harris, one of its members, announced that "if there are any threats to teachers for taking part in this demonstration, our organization wants to know about it."

The board moved from its regular meeting room to the small principal's office and deadlocked 3-3 on whether to meet with the school patrons in open session.

About 100 of the patrons crowded into the small room and a heated argument ensued.

After that, the patrons hooked up a public address system in the auditorium and held their own meeting. Then, at 11:47 Bland announced that the board had reconsidered its decision not to rehire the principal and band director.

Old Law Invalidates Marriage

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Discovery of a 1941 Arkansas law that any marriage in which either partner is a female under 16 or a male under 18 is null and void has prompted Rep. B. G. Hendrix to design a new measure.

Hendrix, who represents Sebastian County, said Thursday he will present a bill to the Legislative Council at its May 17 meeting to make marriages of persons under age legal.

The bill will be introduced either at the next regular legislative session, or at a special session if one is called, Hendrix said.

The current Arkansas law has no escape laws such as parental consent and there have been news reports that the federal Social Security Administration would not pay benefits to widows who were not legally married.

The reports started a stampede on the office of several county clerks.

The purpose of the bill, Hendrix said, is not to make it easier for under-age persons to marry, but to enable Arkansans to receive all benefits due them.

Mutiny Put Down in the Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congolese paratroops crushed a mutiny this morning by Leopoldville city police who arrested their superior officers in a bid for higher pay.

More than two companies of paratroops surrounded the city's main police camp, pointing automatic weapons into the compound.

Other paratroops entered the camp and seized the armories. Commandeered trucks and jeeps took the rifles and ammunition to safety.

Paratroop officers outside the camp said no shots were fired. The police demanded a 25 per cent increase in pay. To back up their demand, they arrested their officers, a high official of the Ministry of the Interior said.

Under Congolese law, police are not allowed to strike.

Commandos and military policemen also took over local police stations. One eyewitness said the troops beat police outside his local station when they arrested them.

Government officials say the police are demanding a pay rise equal to the increase in the Congolese minimum wage recently announced by Premier Cyrille Adoula. However, the police earn well above the minimum wage. Their pay is about $100 a month, although its purchasing power has been decreasing recently because of inflation.

Tomatoes Shower U.S. Envoy

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Ultraleftist youths bombarded the U.S. and Venezuelan ambassadors with tomatoes and eggs Thursday night as the envoys left a museum.

U.S. Ambassador Fulton Freeman and Santiago Ochoa Briceno of Venezuela had been attending a photography exhibition sponsored by the Venezuelan Embassy. The youths shouted "Down with Yankee Imperialism."

Freeman and Ochoa Briceno, badly splattered, ducked into waiting cars.

It was the first such attack on Freeman, who has been well-liked during his two-year stay.

ALGIERS (AP)—The dispute between Algeria and France over French nuclear tests in the Sahara has been eased by France's agreement to withdraw all its troops from its former territory by late 1964. The previous withdrawal date was July 1, 1965.

Nothing was said about French agreement to refrain from testing there. The French plan to build a testing base in their Pacific Island territory.

ADEN (AP)—An emergency has been declared in Somalia's former British-ruled north following riots in which four persons were killed and several wounded, according to a broadcast from the city of Hargeisa.

HAY RIVER, North West Territories (AP)—More than 1,300 persons have been evacuated by air from two island communities nearly buried under ice-choked flood waters.

Evacuees included 600 of Hay River's 1,600 residents and all 750 residents of Fort Simpson. Flood waters from the Hay, Mackenzie and Laird rivers covered more than 90 per cent of Hay River and 80 per cent of Fort Simpson Thursday night.

Witnesses' Supervisor Visits Hope

Eugene Shuster, presiding minister of the Hope congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced the semi-annual visit of the circuit supervisor, Robert N. White, during the week of April 30 and May 5.

Wednesday through Sunday some time was to be devoted to field missionary service each day. Mr. White will join ministers from the local congregation in making calls on residents of the community. This is part of the regular door to door ministry and training program of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The Saturday evening program begins at 8 p.m. with a Bible question period. "New Things Learned," which consists of audience participation. A 30 minute discourse by Mr. White dealing with counsel for improving one's personal ministry concludes the session.

Highlight of the meeting comes Sunday at 3 p.m. when Mr. White gives the public talk "Is Your Destiny of Your Own Making?" A congregation Bible study using the Watchtower magazine as an aid, will be a discussion of the article, Inner Harmony—Proof of the Bible's Divine Authority, and final remarks by Mr. White brings the activities to a close.

All meetings will be held at Kingdom Hall, 1712 S. Elm St.

Marchers to Face Crisis in Alabama

By DON MCKEE
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Juvenile Court Judge Talbot Ellis said today he will hold in jail an undetermined number of school children whose arrest in a mass antidesegregation drive marked their second commitment to Juvenile Court.

"If we've had them before, I'm not setting any bond," said Ellis. "For first offenders, bond is $500."

Several hundred Negro school children were among 600-700 persons, mostly teenagers, arrested Thursday in what integration leaders described as the initial thrust of a renewal of protest demonstrations against segregation.

"I wish I could get my hands on the ones responsible for those who misled these kids," Ellis said. "They ought to be put under the jail."

Ellis said he did not know what disposition would be made of the charges, mostly for parading without a permit, filed against the youngsters.

"As a basic rule, we don't fine kids for acts of delinquency—that's one of our basic tenets," the judge said. The youngest prisoners were held at detention home.

"The youngest, I understand, was eight," he said. "That's what makes my blood boil."

Ellis said 319 children were booked through the detention home. Of that number, the County Jail reported 240 girls remained in jail; none posted bond. City Jail reported 290 adults were held there, though some had made bond. An undetermined number of boys were sent to the nearby County Jail at Bessemer.

They were arrested in waves of marches and picketing downtown. One Negro high school principal reported that 770 students showed up for school today.

Syria Split Threatens Arab Union

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The unborn Arab union of Syria, Iraq and Egypt was reported threatened today by a split in the revolutionary government of Syria.

Reliable sources in Beirut reported six pro-Nasser members of the Syrian Cabinet and of the ruling National Revolutionary Council have resigned, leaving the Ba'ath Socialist party in control of the country.

Six civilian members of the 25-man Revolutionary Council walked out at the same time, the sources reported.

Q. What are the basic differences between the FBI today and as it existed in 1924?

A. Most noticeable, perhaps, is the fact that our jurisdiction has increased manifold. For example, during the gangster era of the 1930s, a series of crime bills—including such important laws as the Federal Bank Robbery Act, the Lindbergh kidnap statute and the Fugitive Felon Act—were passed by Congress and placed within the bureau's jurisdiction. In September 1939, as war clouds thundered over Europe, President Roosevelt issued a directive making the FBI the civilian agency primarily responsible for safeguarding the nation's internal security. Investigations of espionage, sabotage and subversive activities have been one of the major areas of our responsibility ever since.

More recently, Congress has passed a series of laws designed to help combat organized crime and racketeering. Several of these new laws are among the approximately 170 federal investigative matters over which the FBI has jurisdiction today.

Q. The FBI has become the symbol in the public eye of a highly efficient law enforcement agency. What is the main reason for this accomplishment?

A. The combined loyalty and sacrifices of thousands of FBI employees—past and present—underlie the bureau's reputation today.

The FBI is a "we" organization. Major crimes are not solved through the efforts of any one person.

Q. Statistics indicate that crime has been increasing in the United States. Just how serious is the crime problem?

A. Preliminary crime statistics for 1962 revealed a 7 per cent increase in the number of serious crimes over 1961. From 1950 through 1962, serious crimes in the United States surged upward by 114 per cent.

These cold facts are sufficient to show that crime is one of the most serious problems facing the nation today. Over 2 million crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny of $50 and over, and automobile theft were committed in 1962.

Serious crime has increased five times faster than the nation's population in the five years preceding 1962.

The current trend, unless reversed, foretells a tragic breakdown of law and order which will require drastic action to avoid chaos.

Q. What is causing this increase in crime?

A. There are any number of factors involved in the crime problem. The size of a community; density, age, race, sex, economic status, mores and stability of its population; climate; effectiveness and strength of police agencies; efficiency and policies of prosecuting officials and courts; and the attitude of the public toward law enforcement are among the many factors.

It is my firm belief that the public attitude toward law enforcement is a major and basic cause of the current crime increase. Too many people today are concerning themselves only with rights. They are ignoring responsibilities. Too many citizens have adopted a "don't get involved" attitude about matters of crime.

debt ceiling—and doubtless will. Or it can cut appropriations sharply—but is unlikely to do that. Or the Treasury could sell part of the assets the government owns as represented by loans and investments of various types. It will sell some in any event, but is more likely to increase their total rather than whittle it.

Those who argue that Americans shouldn't worry about a still larger federal debt, say it should be judged in relation to the output of goods and services in the nation, known as the Gross National Product. This has grown much faster in recent years than has the federal debt, big as it is. The nation is a lot wealthier even if it's further in hock.

Also private debt has been growing much faster than has the federal debt. At $304 billion the federal debt compares with a public and private debt that has crossed the trillion-dollar mark. Private debt rose 79 per cent from 1945 to 1960, another 60 per cent from 1960 to 1965 and 45 per cent from 1965 to 1966. Compared with that the growth of the federal debt looks sedate.

But those who preach economy say that the federal debt seems set now to take off at a much faster pace than in recent years. And they argue that the annual debate over raising the legal ceiling, if it does nothing else, calls attention to the trend toward greater spending and thus may put a brake on some of the demands.

and a half off Varadero Beach, and headed back to the Florida Keys.

The Communist patrol boat decided to quit swapping bullets and turned tail.

Alexander I. Rorke, Jr., head of the U.S. Freedom Fighters in New York City, had flown us to West Palm Beach, Fla., in his private plane.

Plans had been made for a small load of arms to be dropped in Cuba that night. Rorke arranged for Dorfman and me to go along on the Cuban trip.

We were joined by five other Americans and two Cuban refugees, making 10 in all.

Our speed was about 20 knots. In a little more than five hours we pulled into a cove at Anguilla Key, nearly 30 miles off Cuba and 90 miles from the Florida Keys.

The guns we had come to pick up were stashed under canvas covered with brush. They had been left earlier by a supply boat from the Bahamas.

We pulled out of Anguilla and aimed at Communist Cuba.

About a mile off Varadero Beach we stopped. It is located near the city of Matanzas on the western end of Cuba, about 80 miles east of Havana.

We inflated a 10-man rubber raft, with a small, nearly silent outboard motor. The crew loaded it with the guns and we made for shore. A few minutes after we hit the beach, four Cuban guerrillas ran out to meet us. One of them spoke halting English. He said they had been waiting about an hour. I learned there were other guerrillas nearby, all armed.

We dumped the guns, we climbed in the raft and put it back to the boat. A few minutes later we climbed aboard, hauled up the raft and headed across the Florida Straits back to the keys.

The Cuban patrol boat must have seen us as we pulled our gear on deck. That's when they raked us with one short burst of machine gun fire.

The action was over in a matter of seconds.

But there was one particularly unpleasant aspect to the trip. I got seasick.

RISING FAWN, Ga. (AP)—An integrated group resumes its walk through the South today, expecting to be arrested upon reaching Alabama.

The five white men and five Negro men halted Thursday a mile from this small community. They have walked about 25 miles in two days. It is about six miles to the Alabama line and they did not expect to cross it before noon.

An Alabama state official said previously that the marchers would be arrested as soon as officers spotted them on Alabama soil.

And Sheriff Harold Richards of DeKalb County, which adjoins Georgia on the group's march route, said Thursday night:

"If they are allowed to come down here, there'll be some trouble."

He said several cars filled with white men had been driving about and that there was talk of meeting the marchers.

The demonstrators spent the night in Rome, Ga., 60 miles away, with members of the Rome Student Movement, an integration group.

The march began as a memorial to Baltimore postman William

India and Pakistan Debated

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed the world situation with Prime Minister Nehru today, giving special attention to India's tense relations with neighboring Pakistan.

Rusk told newsmen he had a pleasant talk, with Nehru, but would not disclose what was said. Indian Foreign Secretary M. J. Desai said the two leaders talked about the Congo, Laos, India's conflict with Communist China, Indian relations with Pakistan and particularly the Kashmir dispute.

Rusk talked Thursday in Karachi with Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan, who forcefully reiterated Pakistan's fears that Western arms aid to India for its defense against Communist China might be used against Pakistan.

British Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys also is here for talks on the Kashmir dispute. He saw Nehru Thursday and is expected to meet him again Saturday.

Rusk and Sandys have been in touch on the possibility of getting India to internationalize the key area of Kashmir that it holds and Pakistan seeks. Indian sources have indicated, however, that internationalization is unacceptable.

Rusk Pays Visit to Bulgaria

By ALLAN JACKS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk comes to Belgrade Saturday to bolster relations between the United States and this Communist country. Resident Tito will welcome him and his mission.

For nearly two years U.S.-Yugoslav relations have been sagging. They are at perhaps the lowest point since 1948 when Tito broke with Stalin's Soviet Union. Recently Yugoslav leaders have been trying to do something about it. They view Rusk's acceptance of their invitation as evidence of some success.

Yugoslav moves to improve relations have included two private talks between Tito and U.S. Ambassador George F. Kennan. A message from Tito was taken to President Kennedy by Yugoslav Ambassador Veljko Micunovic after consultations here. Its contents have not been disclosed but it is understood Tito assured Kennedy that Yugoslavia intends to show independence of both Moscow and the West. It also doubtless reiterated the Yugoslav position that closer Yugoslav-Soviet relations should not spoil relations with the West, especially the United States.

One factor in deteriorating U.S.-Yugoslav relations has been a series of visits exchanged between Yugoslav and Soviet leaders. Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev last September used Yugoslavia as a platform for anti-American statements. Tito went to Moscow in December and repeatedly emphasized close friendship with the Soviet Union. Premier Khrushchev is scheduled to come here this summer.

Rusk's visit is the first by a U.S. secretary of state since John Foster Dulles came here in 1955.

Picket Injunction Is Denied Firm

BENTON, Ark. (AP)—An injunction against what the firm termed violence at its plant was denied the Wheatley Industries Inc. Thursday in a hearing before Chancellor Mel Carden. Carden denied the injunction after a two-hour session. Dewey Siles, local representative for the United States Steel Workers of America, maintained there has been no violence at the plant since about 20 workers walked off their jobs March 27.

Ashdown Industrial Corporation will erect a building at a cost of $40,000, with the funds to be repaid through rentals. The firm now has plants at West Memphis and at Minden, La., manufacturing over-the-road trailers on contract.

5 grades prices

...A new way to buy gasoline and save up to 3¢ a gallon

5 grades...5 prices...blended in the gas pump
...blended exactly to fit your car

Half of all U. S. car owners buy the wrong grade of gasoline.

Many waste money buying premium octane power their cars can't use. Others risk engine damage by using a regular grade which causes knock and loss of power.

Why is this true? Until now, car owners had to choose between only two or three grades of gasoline—which cannot meet the wide variety of octane requirements of cars on the road today.

But now you can buy Lion Octane-Blended Gasoline in any one of five different octane ratings... at five different prices... one of them exactly right for your car.

Each blend is top-quality Lion gasoline with the exclusive Lionite® additive that prevents pre-ignition knock or ping... keeps spark plugs clean... improves engine breathing by keeping the carburetor clean.

How Lion Octane-Blending works: The special pump draws two separate fuels from two underground tanks, feeding them through a hose-within-a-hose in the exact proportion for your car.

The lower the octane rating your car needs, the more you save... 1¢, 2¢ even 3¢ a gallon! And Lion is the only place you can get it.

Stop in at your Lion Dealer's. He'll help you select the correct blend for your car. Change to Lion Octane-Blended Gasoline, and keep the change!

Chapter XXIX

"You're just on cue, Doctor," I said. "Captain Nichols has her talking about you. She remembers you warmly. I think you can hold her for a while."

"Of course," I said. "She remembers it. She remembers you knew she was faking most of the time. She remembers you had an agreement that she'd tell you if she was really sick."

He held a lighter to his pipe and got it going evenly. "Let's go," he said. He nodded to Frances. He followed me down the hall. We could see Nicholas' shadow against the screen.

I touched his shoulder and he turned.

"Dr. Hayburn," I whispered. Dawn was looking down at the street again. I could see the Doctor, rigid as a fence post, staring at her. Nichols put his mouth close to the doctor's ear.

"I need time, Doctor. Time, time, time," he whispered.

Hayburn drew a deep breath, and then, in a pleasant, half-amused voice, he said: "You been blowing on the thermometer again, kiddo?"

Dawn's head swiveled round. I closed my eyes. A quick movement like that could send her pitching out into space.

"Dr. Claude!" I heard her say. She was gripping the rail — on our side — with both hands, her body turned farther toward us than it had been before.

"You look swell," the Doctor said. "You really grew up into something, kiddo."

Dawn laughed. "Oh Nichols, Nichols. What a slick, slick article you are," she said.

"We did have an agreement, kiddo," Hayburn said, easy as syrup. "You were to tell me if you really felt sick. So I came over to see if I could be of any use to you."

"Before I go?" she asked, her voice suddenly harsh.

"Well, I wouldn't be much use to you afterwards, would I kiddo?"

We stepped into the brightly lit living room. Nichols closed the door and leaned against it. He drew a deep breath and turned to Frances. "I'm taking certain responsibilities here, Mrs. Terrill. We could lower a man by rope down over that awning — right to where she is. A man, properly secured, might edge around the separating wall from the next terrace. We can spread nets below. But none of these things can be done without her knowing it, any more than we can walk out through that screen door without her knowing it. The minute she's aware of an attempt to reach her I think she may jump. She may anyway. If I haven't tried these things you may then say I didn't do my best."

"Do you think there's a chance you can bring her in?" Frances asked, in a dead voice.

"Mostly in these situations the person out on a ledge is in a kind of emotional trance. They won't talk to you except to tell you to keep away. All they're thinking is, 'Now? Now?' Your daughter's perfectly rational — if you can accept the word in connection with someone considering suicide. Eventually, let alone, she'll come to a decision. If we force her hand by efforts to reach her we'll also force the decision. I'd say the odds were heavily on the side of tragedy. Personally I believe our one chance of winning a long shot is by some sort of reason — keeping her there, thinking, talking. But —" and he sighed. "— she's your child. I haven't the right to make this decision alone."

Frances looked at me out of her sunken eyes. Let him do it his way," I said. "He's handled it brilliantly so far."

"Some brilliance!" Nichols said, bitterly. "She's still out there."

"I trust your judgment completely, Captain Nichols," Frances said.

"No recriminations afterwards if I fail?"

The corner of her mouth twitched. "You want it in writing?"

"Maybe I really don't want to take the responsibility," he said. "Okay." Then he went on with an exhausted kind of smile:

"Her need for love, her need to be wanted, are stage sets for the main drama — backdrops against which this main drama of life and death is being played. Something set her off. The last 30 hours have been all melodrama for her: the raid on this apartment by Hooper and his friend; the disappearance of Matthew Higby who was at least at the scene of the murder sometime during last evening; the attack on her by Hooper's friend on the street early this afternoon; finally the brutal murder of Candace. All these things put together have added up to something in her mind — something she can't endure. Now I don't want to know what they add up to in your mind, Mrs. Terrill, or in yours, Ryan."

Contact With Mt. Everest Crew Lost

By ALAN M. KENNEDY

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—A radio blackout hid the fate today of American climbers battling their way through bitter winds, icy footing and thin air up the treacherous final 1,300 feet of Mt. Everest.

The break in radio communications delayed word on whether the first American assault team had conquered the world's highest mountain. A report from the base camp said the weather made it unlikely that the 29,028-foot summit could have been reached Wednesday as scheduled.

An 18-man crew set up Camp Six at 27,800 feet Tuesday to prepare for a May Day assault on the summit. The snow-covered peak is less than a half-mile vertically from Camp Six but can be reached only by a longer, roundabout route.

The base camp said there had been no movement by the second and third assault parties Wednesday, an indication of turbulent weather on the heights. One group was at Camp Five, 26,000 feet up, and the other at Camp Four at 24,800. They had been moving up a day behind the first team to make assaults of their own on the summit in sequence.

The timetable called for the four-man first team, including one or more Sherpas, to spend Tuesday night at Camp Six. A spokesman said all four climbers might reach the top, depending on the weather and their own physical condition.

Expedition policy keeps secret the identity of the climbers in all three assault groups until they have returned to safety.

New Tool Board Built for Voc. Agriculture Shop

Jumping Frog Event Joined by Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN

Associated Press Staff Writer
When Mark Twain penned his classic, "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County" back in 1865, little did he realize he would start an annual event drawing thousands of people.

This year, Arkansas is in on the event—the International Frog Jump—to be held May 18-19 at Angel's Camp, Calif.

An Arkansas County frog was snared last week, brought to Little Rock, where it was christened "Traveler" by Gov. Orval E. Faubus' executive assistant, then sent to California in an appropriate hardwood paneled shipping crate.

An effort will be made to get an Arkansas native now living in California to handle "Traveler" during the frog jump.

"Traveler" will be trying to best or equal the world record frog jump of 16 feet and 10 inches for a prize of $500.

Twain's story told of a stranger who duped a gambler into a frog-jumping contest, then funneled a sack of quail shot down his opponent's entry.

Batesville residents are wondering if they're going to be called to task for breaking a law hardly

This is one of the new tool boards that are being installed in the local Vocational Agriculture shop which will replace the old style tool room, which has been in use ever since the shop was built and has become somewhat out dated.

Several other improvements are also being done at the present time, including painting the inside and rezoning the shop. Voc. Ag. Instr. Troy W. Buck says that this improvement will increase the use and efficiency of the shop by 50 to 60 per cent. This is part of the local school building program and the stress being put on the mechanics of agriculture in trying to keep up with the needs of education and particularly the new developments in agriculture.

Superintendent Jones says that the schools must continue to change and grow or they will soon be left behind. All the work currently in the school shop is being done by the boys themselves and the money for the materials and new equipment was made by the boys in the FFA Rodeo which was held here a few weeks ago.

Russia With West in Laos Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has sent personal good wishes to President Kennedy and assurances that the Soviet envoy in Laos has been told to work with British and American ambassadors to try to settle the Laotian crisis.

This was the oral message. Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman said he conveyed Tuesday night to the President. It was the reply to a written message Kennedy had sent Khrushchev.

Harriman, who returned from Moscow Monday night, briefed the President on his 3½ hour talk with Khrushchev.

After his report, the tart-tongued Harriman talked with newsmen in the White House lobby.

Was he "hopeful" about a Laotian settlement a newsmen asked. "Everybody always asks me that," said Harriman. "That (hopeful) isn't a word that's in my vocabulary."

But, he added, the civil war in Laos has been transferred from the battlefield to the political arena and it will "be there for some time to come, I think."

Why didn't Khrushchev send a written reply to Kennedy's message?

"The Beard was about to arrive," said Harriman, in reference to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, and the Soviet premier was very busy.

Deny Report Faubus Was Go-Between

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Members of the Arkansas congressional delegation contacted in Washington Thursday said they knew nothing of a report that President Kennedy asked Gov. Orval E. Faubus to confer with Alabama Gov. George Wallace about desegregation matters.

Sen. John L. McClellan, who was at the meeting where the request was reported to have been made, said he was unaware of ed out by a trio of hunters, has sort of backfired.

The three —Richard Painter, Billy Goodin and his father, W. H. Goodin—discovered that the call, which sounds like a rabbit in distress, also lures rattlesnakes.

Oh, well, they say, the calls can still be used from a tree.

The Senior Talent Division of the Rural County Meet was held at Blevins April 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gym. Mrs. Norma Daniels was hostess to this county division.

She and her assistants had the program so arranged that the numbers were entertaining and the program seemed short. There were approximately 124 students participating in this event.

Haskell Jones of KXAR was the master of ceremonies and kept the program going smoothly. Entered in the Instrumental division were Carol Evans, Saratoga; Sue Jones, Guernsey; Janice Dearing, Spring Hill and Sue and Cathy Montgomery of Blevins.

In the dramatic reading the contestants were Wanda Jackson, Blevins; Jane Black, Guernsey; and Pam Butler, Spring Hill. In the Comedy Division were Jack Aaron, Jackie Kidd, Bob McCormack of Spring Hill; Bonnie Stone Jackie Wilson; Linda Roberts of Blevins and Jessie Tullis, Larry Walden of Guernsey.

Vocal soloists were Sue Wright, Blevins; Jackie Martin, Spring Hill and Sue McKamie, Guernsey. Duets were De Lois Trees and Betty Fontaine of Saratoga; Ann Cato and Dianne Anderson of Spring Hill; and Elaine Adams and Jerry Blackmon of Guernsey.

Trios were Glenda Thurman, Alice Fulton, Nelda Hoover of Blevins; Carolyn Powell, Sylvia Rosenbaum, Nita Gaines, Guernsey; Donna Sue McJunkins, Rose Fontaine and Gwendolyn McJunkins of Saratoga.

Choral groups were entered from Spring Hill, Guernsey and Saratoga.

The results of the contest will be announced at Saratoga on May 7. This will be the final night of the Rural County Meet. Also, on this night, speeches from various schools will be judged.

any such action. Rep. Oren Harris, J. W. Trimble and Wilbur Mills said they heard Gov. Wallace's name mentioned.

They said Kennedy asked Faubus if he was chairman of the Southern Governor's Conference and if Faubus knew Wallace.

Faubus acknowledged his chairmanship of the conference, but said he had never met Wallace.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said, "I am not in a position to comment on the president's private conversations."

Faubus is vacationing in the Carolinas and was unavailable for comment.

Churchill and Wilson Had Confidence

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two men alive at the same time, Sir Winston Churchill and Woodrow Wilson, believed from their early years they were meant for greatness. Both were right.

Both were almost obsessed by belief in their power to sway men's minds. So both practiced oratory by the hour in their formative years, in their rooms and in the fields. In this both were right only part of the time.

Yet, it was in their use of the language of persuasion that Churchill and Wilson revealed the difference between them—in their nature and in their image in history.

They sought and found their fulfillment in politics. Wilson did it in eight years, Churchill in five, Wilson in World War I, Churchill in World War II.

Churchill, 88, feeble, in a wheelchair, announced Wednesday he would not seek re-election to the British Parliament where he had held a seat 61 years. He had actually been in politics every year of this century but for two years failed to get elected.

But because of his mistakes, temperament and bad judgment he was a political has been until 1940 he was made prime minister. In the five years of the war he became one of the great figures in history.

The years before and afterwards were secondary.

He will be remembered as a warm, down-to-earth, very human man who, through his industrious will and the sunlit imagery of his language, expressed what millions felt but few could express.

When he led Britain against Germany everyone on earth could understand him, even the Germans, when he talked of fighting the Nazis on the hills and beaches and promised only blood, toil tears and sweat.

Wilson died at 67 in 1924. He left the presidency of Princeton to become the governor of New Jersey from 1910 to 1912. From 1913 to 1921 he was president.

He did so well that last year a poll of 75 American historians listed him as one of the five great presidents. The others were Lincoln, Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Jefferson.

When he died, he had been out of the White House three years. He too, was feeble, wrecked by a stroke that hit him near the end of his presidency.

He will be remembered as an idealist whose dream of a League of Nations, which his country did not accept until more than two decades after his death, might have averted World War II, if it had been accepted in his lifetime.

But he had none of Churchill's warmth. He was cold. As one of his biographers, John Morton Blum, says, "Men had seldom loved him." He was too self-righteous to be loved, too much a moralizer to be easily understood.

Unlike Churchill, who had spent most of his life thinking of international relations before he became prime minister, Wilson up to the time of his presidency and World War I had paid scant attention to foreign affairs.

No wonder he misread events when the war began. He was unprepared for them. He thought a neutral United States could stand aloof and be a mediator of the great dispute.

In the midst of that war, before the United States got in, Wilson translated his private self-righteousness into presidential moralizing in language that could never quicken the heart like Churchill's.

"There is such a thing as being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

He wouldn't let the belligerents step on American rights, he said, but he said it pompously: "We covet peace and shall preserve it at any cost but the loss of honor."

One step led to another until the United States was a belligerent, too.

But the great influences of Churchill and Wilson ended with their wars. When World War II ended, the British people threw Churchill out, and for an understandable reason. He was so taken up with the war, he had given no thought to postwar problems at home and therefore had no program. The people chose the Laborites who did.

Wilson, taken up with his League of Nations, thought little of the postwar problems, too. He toured the country and impressed the people with his oratory but he didn't impress his enemies in the Senate which wrecked his league idea.

Churches Offer Patriotic Program Sunday

The Hope Community Chorus accompanied by the Hope High School Band will present a program of patriotic music this Sunday evening, May 5th, at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the First Baptist, First Methodist and First Presbyterian Churches. This production is sponsored by the Friday Music Club of Hope in connection with the 40th annual observance of National Music

Week, May 5 through 12, sponsored by the National Federation of music clubs. The theme for National Music Week is "Let The World Rejoice With Music." Sunday night's program will be the 14th annual Music Festival of the Friday Music Club. Many members of the chorus are also members of the Friday Music Club.

Choral numbers on this program are all Fred Waring arrangements and include "This Is My Country," "O Brother Man," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" and the "Processional Hymn". The band will present three instrumental selections entitled "Salvation Is Created" by Tsche-snokoff; "Allersellen" by Strauss and "Three Modern Chorales" by Wagner, Brahms and Frank.

The Community Chorus under the direction of Gilbert Thomas is made up of choirs of the First Baptist, First Methodist and First Presbyterian churches. The band for this performance is made up of 32 select members of the Hope High School Band under the direction of Jon Barbarotto. The concert Sunday will be conducted by Jon Barbarotto, organist will be Mrs. H. A. Spraggins, and is under the direction of Gilbert Thomas.

Professor Sues Ozark College

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A former college of the Ozarks political science professor has sued the school, seeking payment of "back salary" of $3,900 a year from Sept. 1, 1958 to Aug. 31, 1963.
Dr. Charles G. Hamilton, 57, now of New Orleans, claims in the suit that he was discharged without a hearing and that he has never resigned from the school.
Dr. Winslow Drummond, then president of the school, contended that Hammond wrote anonymous letters criticizing the administration. Hammond was fired by the board of trustees.
The doctor filed suit to keep Drummond from interfering in his teaching activities, but the suit was dropped when Chancellor Paul Williams ruled Hammond had not presented proper cause for action.
Dr. Don Davis, president of the Ozarks college, was out of town Tuesday and a spokesman said no statement was expected from school officials.

Works for State Space Spot

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said Wednesday he has been working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for the past several months in an attempt to bring Arkansas into the national space program. Mills said he is hopeful the state will get a space facility.

Who needs muscles?
Do you know how easy it is to take a corner with a Corvair or park one? Turn this newspaper sideways and it will give you a pretty good idea. The wheel handles just about that easily.
The Corvair's engine is in the rear, for not only greater traction, but more balanced weight distribution. And that's what makes the steering so completely effortless.
The engine is air cooled, too. No radiator. No water or antifreeze. No boiling over or freezing up to worry about. It takes the weather and the terrain as it comes.
So think about those trips to the beach this summer, those bright sunny days and balmy moonlit nights.
And besides, looking at it from a very practical point of view, it's Trade 'N' Travel time right now at your Chevrolet dealer's. He's got some beautiful buys.
But you had better hurry before somebody muscles in ahead of you. Spring's here, Summer's coming fast. And with these sporty good-looking Corvairs selling the way they are, he who hesitates will want to kick himself.

Chances for Special Meet Are Remote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chances of a special legislative session in Arkansas this year to create a voter registration system to replace the poll tax diminished Wednesday.

The Delaware state Senate rejected a proposed anti-poll tax amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

That left six states still in legislative session—not counting Delaware—that have yet to act on the amendment. The action of the Delaware Senate could be fatal, but word at Washington was that the vote was subject to reconsideration and might be reversed.

The amendment, which needs ratification by 38 states before it can be adopted, already has been ratified by 32 states. Legislatures in these states are still in session: Texas, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Missouri, Maine, New Hampshire and Delaware.

If six of the states ratify the amendment, it becomes law this year. If any two of them fail to act on it, or reject it, the amendment cannot become law before 1964.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus has said he would be inclined to call a special legislative session to work out a new voter registration system and handle the financial difficulties of the State Police Department.

But he said he does not want to call a special session to solve just one of the problems because the session would mean extra expense for the state.

There remains, of course, the possibility that some other state will have a special legislative session and may ratify the amendment then.

The Arkansas legislature did not act on the amendment, and beat down attempts to create a new voter registration system to replace the poll tax.

The Texas legislature gave tentative approval Wednesday to a voter registration system which could replace the poll tax but advanced no plan to act on the amendment.

The House approved a Senate-passed bill, but the measure must go back to the Texas Senate for acceptance or rejection of House home Tuesday. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home.

changes—principally in removing a 25 cent charge for registering. Arkansas' Texas and three other states use the poll tax.

Derby Made for a Horse Closing Fast

By KESLO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—This year's Kentucky Derby, which attracted eight bluebloods of racing and a colt that will really have to move just to stay in sight of the field, is made for a Silky Sullivan that can run.

For those who don't remember, Silky Sullivan was the California colt that gained some fame for his come from behind victories. In 1958 Silky mistook the Derby for his afternoon stroll and finished 19th in a 14-horse field.

Most trainers in this year's race concede that Greentree Stable's unbeaten No Robbery has so much early speed that any colt trying to run with him may find the pace killing.

Horses in the race that figure to stay close to the pace, and possibly No Robbery, in the early going, are Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay, Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet and Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend.

Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots, the 5-5 favorite to win the 23rd running of the 1-mile event Saturday, can either run or stay off the pace. He'll probably stay off.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods, Minor Major Minor Major

Tulsa Tennis Men Beat Hogs

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Tulsa University beat Arkansas 5-1 in a tennis match Thursday. Lou Siegel, a Little Rock native who plays for Tulsa, beat Herbert Moreland of Arkansas 6-3, 6-4 in singles, then teamed with Mike Meistrall and Roy Murtishaw of Arkansas 6-2, 6-4 in doubles.

The only Arkansas victory was in a doubles match in which John Cook and Moreland beat Ron Pitman and Curtis Parks 6-2, 6-3.

Bartlett beat Cook in singles 6-1, 6-4. Parks beat Moreland 6-3, 6-4, and Pitman beat Murtishaw 6-1, 6-2.

Musial Wins for Cards, Tying Ruth

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Stan Musial uncoiled from his familiar left-handed stance in the seventh inning Thursday night and lashed a three-run double that gave National League leading St. Louis a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs and added yet another record to Stan The Man's collection.

It was the 1,356th extra-base hit of Musial's career, tying the major league record held by Babe Ruth. The 42-year-old Cardinal has legged out 3,555 hits a distance of 102 1/2 miles and set or tied 42 NL records and 15 major league marks.

Musial's lifetime chart now shows 2,199 singles, 717 doubles, 175 triples and 464 homers. Double No. 717 came at an opportune time, giving the Cardinals a 4-0 bulge they needed to hold off the rallying Cubs.

The victory kept the Cardinals two games ahead of Pittsburgh and San Francisco. The third-place Giants edged the second-place Pirates 2-1 on Juan Mari-chal's five-hit pitching and Felipe Alou's two-run homer.

Ron Fairly's two-out, two-run homer in the ninth inning gave the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia. Hank Aaron hit his eighth homer and Bob Hendley allowed only three hits as Milwaukee blanked Cincinnati 8-0 and the New York Mets belted Houston 10-3.

In the American League, Cleveland overwhelmed Kansas City 15-6, the New York Yankees blanked the Los Angeles Angels 7-0, Baltimore edged Chicago's White Sox 8-7 and Washington whipped Detroit 9-4. The Boston-Minnesota game was postponed due to rain.

Marichal, who struck out seven and walked only one allowed the lone Pirate run in the sixth.

Fairly's fourth homer tagged Art Mahaffey with the defeat. Ron Perranoski now 3-1, picked up the victory in relief.

Hendley, bringing his record to 3-1, gave up all three Reds' hits to Leo Cardenas. The Braves pounded out 12 hits to hand Joey Jay his fifth defeat.

Charlie Neal stroked four straight singles as the Mets scored in double figures for the first time this season. Larry Burright drove in three runs for New York in support of winner Al Jackson. Don Nottebart took the loss for the Colts.

Some Money Items About Pro Baseball

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The man in the stands knows the players and he knows the general scheme of major league baseball competition. But there are many items about the big leagues with which he may not be familiar.

The financial end, for example. How many fans know that a rule, in effect since 1887, stipulates that each player must leave a deposit of $30 on his uniform?

The deposit is returned to the player at the end of the season. This rule hasn't been adhered to well off it until they hit the stretch.

This leaves Ambush Stable's On My Honor, who came from 24 lengths off the pace to win the California Derby, B. J. Ridder's Royal Tower and Patrice Jacobs' Bonjore.

J. J. Cherock's Investor, who figures to go postward at odds better than 100-1, usually runs off the pace—well off it. He finished next to last in Tuesday's Derby Trial Stakes.

The Derby will be worth $151,400 if all nine go postward, with $108,500 going to the winner.

The field of nine this year is the smallest since 1957, when the same number started.

The Weather Bureau predicts it will be cloudy but pleasant, with temperatures ranging in the 70s and 80s.

The race will be televised (CBS) from 4-5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and broadcast (CBS) from 4-10-14.

Prisoner of Reds Speaks at Texarkana

John Noble

John Noble, one of the few Americans ever to return from a Russian slave labor camp, will give his unforgettable experiences when he speaks at Texarkana College auditorium Thursday, May 9, at 8 p.m., under the sponsorship of the Four States Freedom Foundation of Texarkana. There will be no admission charge.

John Noble was born in Detroit, Mich., in 1923 and attended school there until 1938. At that time he accompanied his parents to Germany to study in one of his father's photo industry factories while his father was receiving medical treatment.

When World War II broke out the Noble family was put under local internment by Hitler's forces until 1945. As the Soviet Red Army occupied East Germany, the Nobles expected to be liberated, since they were United States citizens, but instead were imprisoned by the Soviets. Later John's parents were released but he was held in the Dresden prison for 14 months, without accusation or explanation, and late in 1946 shipped to concentration camp Muehlberg in East Germany, and then on to notorious Buchenwald.

In 1950 Noble was sentenced, without trial or accusation, to 15 years' imprisonment and was shipped through Poland into the U.S.S.R. For four and a half years he was kept in the infamous arctic slave camp "Vorkuta" working in the coal mines under unspeakable conditions. John dropped to under 100 pounds in weight and had to endure 50 and more degrees below zero temperatures. He was one of the 100,000 of the 500,000 prisoners at Vorkuta who participated in the first uprising against Communism in the Soviet Union.

Finally, John Noble was able to smuggle out of Russia a postcard which reached his parents in Detroit and resulted in his liberation after personal intervention by President Eisenhower.

John, who related his religious experience in his book, "I Found God in Soviet Russia," has dedicated his life to serve God and the American nation. He spends much of his time on speaking tours from coast to coast in an effort to awaken America to the dangers of Communism.

Dedication Set for Arts Center

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A three-day festival for dedication of the Arkansas Arts Center at Little Rock will begin May 16. Gov. Orval E. Faubus has been asked to make the dedicatory address May 18.

since the early 1920s.

How about the money that comes in at the gate? How much does the visiting club get?

In the National League, the visitors receive 28 1/2 cents for every paying customer, no matter how much the fan has paid at the box office. The league collects six cents on every admission.

In the American League there is a different system. The visiting team gets 20 cents for every fan who sits in the bleachers and 30 cents for every grandstand customer. The league collects six cents on every admission.

What are some of the incidental expenses connected with running a club?

Well, the Cleveland club, for example, spent $75,000 for railroad and plane fares last season. The Indians paid hotel bills totaling $61,625, exclusive of meals. Meal money, at $10 a day per man, came to $27,750. Players get meal money only when on the road.

Players receive no salary during spring training. The only recompense other than meal money is 25 a week for laundry and incidentals.

The player buys his own glove which he usually gets free by endorsement, but the club pays for his bats. Baseballs cost each club about $15,000 a year and bats come to around $2,500.

John P. Gill Is Bennett Aide

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett announced Thursday appointment of John Puritoy Gill of Little Rock as one of his assistants. Gill, recently discharged from the U.S. Marine Corps after three years service, is a graduate of Hendrix College, Vanderbilt University and the Vanderbilt Law School.

Urban Renewal Grant to L.R.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., announced Thursday approval by the Urban Renewal Administration of an advance of $108,703 to enable Little Rock to start planning its capitol view urban renewal project. The project will require a federal grant of $2,700,396 and will cover 250 acres near the state capitol.

U.S. Judge Young Escapes in Crash

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal Judge Gordon E. Young, 56, escaped injury Thursday when the car he was driving collided with a Cummins Prison farm truck on U.S. Highway 65 near Wrightsville. Young, en route to Little Rock, said he saw the truck approaching in his lane as he rounded a curve. State Trooper Tony McDonald said Nathan Howell, a prison farm trustee and driver of the truck, was unhurt.

Whitley Ford Beats L.A. on 4 Hits

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitley Ford, 34, playing his 12th season with the Yankees and so sore-armed in the spring that he was relegated to the B-team, showed Thursday that he is far from being a candidate for the Old Pitchers Home—if there is such a place.

He shut out the Angels at Los Angeles 7-0, giving up only four hits, all singles; striking out 10 and walking one. Counting the seven innings he worked against Cleveland April 28 before being yanked by Manager Ralph Houk for a rest, he extended his streak of scoreless innings to 16.

The victory, helped along by Joe Pepitone's first grand slam home run in the majors, put the world champions within reach of first place in the American League spot that has been reserved for them for next September.

They are just a game behind 000 tons annual to meet increasing demands for aluminum, the firm said Thursday. The increased production will require about 50 more workers, a spokesman said. The firm announced in April it was increasing production at its Jones Mills plant at Malvern, Ark., by 25,000 tons annually and its Patterson plant at Arkadelphia, Ark., by 15,000 tons.

the Boston Red Sox, who are leading the league by percentage although by a mathematical quirk the Kansas City Athletics are one-half game ahead.

The Athletics, in all their green and gold glory, lost their No. 1 position when beaten by the Cleveland Indians 15-6, mainly on a grand slam home run by Woody Held. The Red Sox, at Minnesota, were rained out.

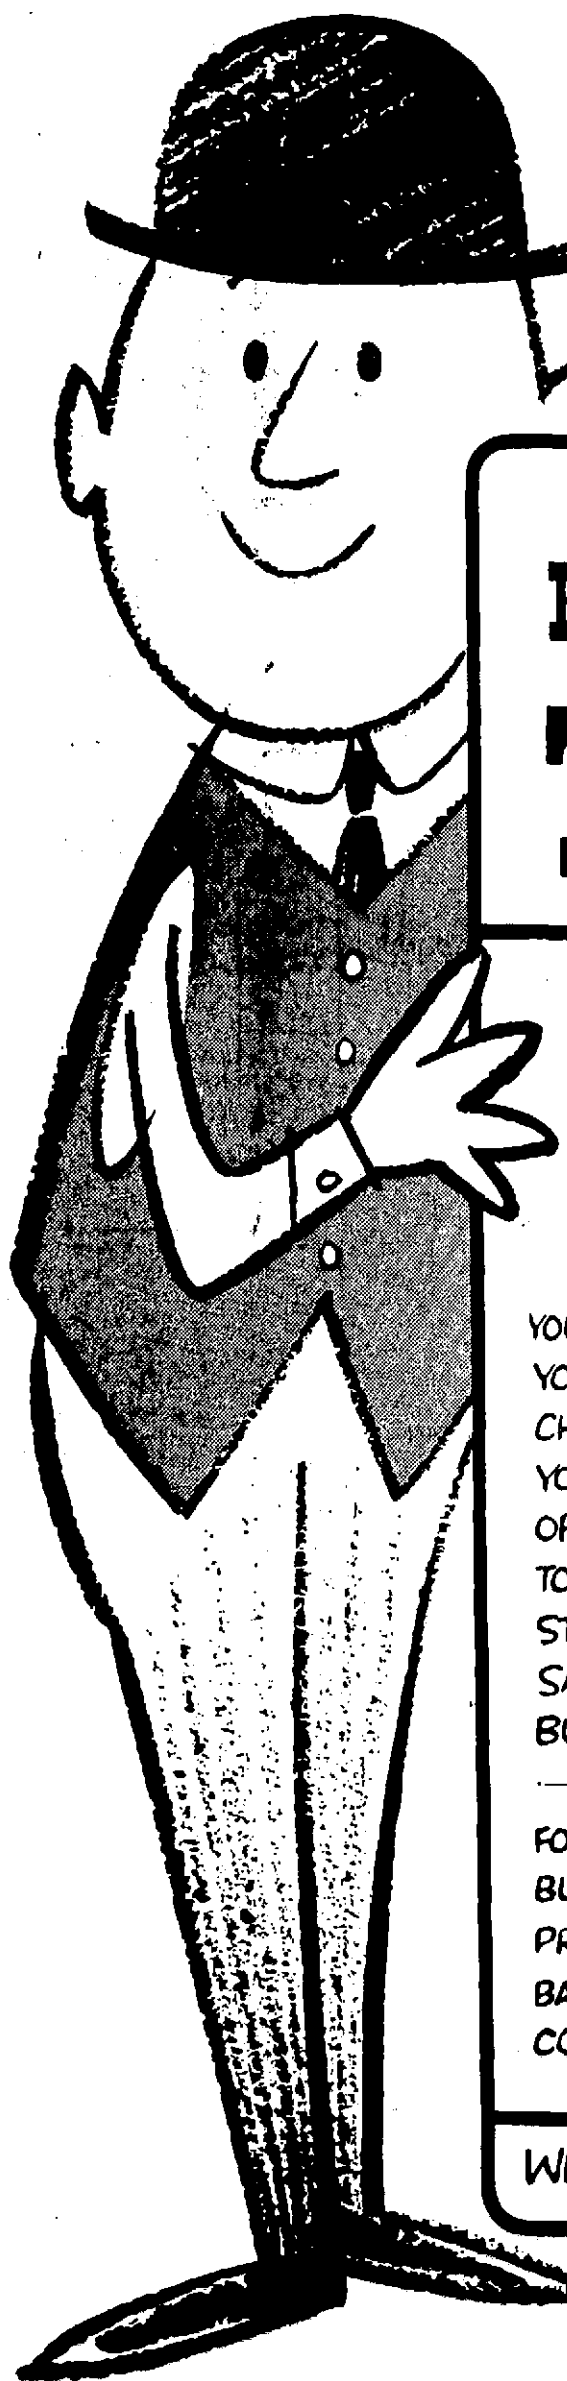

In other games, the Washington Senators hammered out a 9-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers, Larry Osborne leading the attack with two home runs, and the Baltimore Orioles downed the Chicago White Sox 8-7 on a bases loaded single in the ninth inning by Brooks Robinson that scored three runs.

In the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3; Milwaukee blanked Cincinnati 8-0; San Francisco downed Pittsburgh 2-1; Los Angeles nipped Philadelphia 3-2, and the New York Mets walloped Houston 10-3.

At Kansas City, besides Held's grand slammer, homers were hit by the A's rookie catcher, Bill Bryan, and Cleveland's Vic Davalillo. Barry Laitman, who entered the game in the third and gave up only two hits the rest of the way, was the winning pitcher.

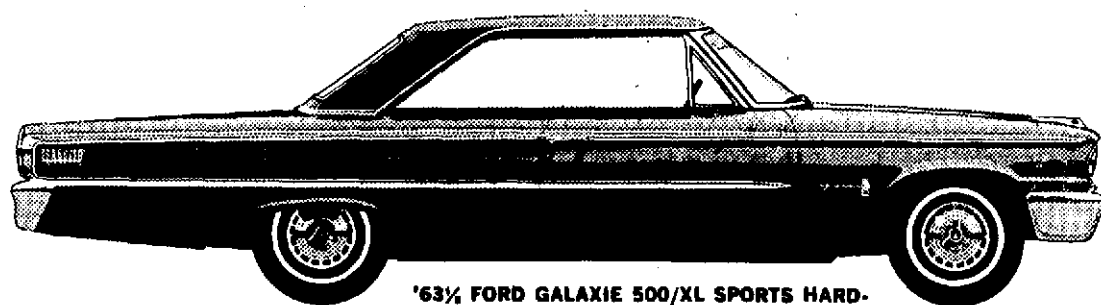

Jim King added a home run to the two-Oshorne hit for Washington at Detroit. The Senators collected 13 hits in winning two games in a row for the first time this season.

Robinson's game-deciding blow at Chicago came with two out. Chicago's Jim Landis hit his third home run of the season and Jim Gentile and Bob Johnson both hit for the circuit for the Orioles.
